

|Navigation|

Ad space now available for purchase. Contact me for further information.

|                       |
|-----------------------|
| Home           |
| Login/Register |
| General        |
| Rants                 |
| Neuron Snaps          |
| American Propaganda   |
| Jesus B. H. Christ    |
| OBL's Dispatches      |
| Photoshoppery         |
| The Red Pen           |
| NO STRING             |
| Misc Interest         |
| Philosophy            |
| Site Info             |
| Random                |
| Forum Junk            |
| Art                   |
| Reviews               |
| Caption This!         |
| Dissections    |
| Chick                 |
| Gonterman             |
| Comics         |
| Horus                 |
| Incessant Screaming   |
| Hitler                |
| Election 2k4          |
| PMD                   |
| Bush's Brain          |
| Galleries      |
| Hand-Drawn            |
| Info           |
| About/Bio/Contact     |

Chick Dissection | Fairy Tales

— Jabberwock | 5/13/2007 @ 4:17 pm | Filed under:

Jack Chick Dissections

They were just fantasy games ... all in fun. But they influenced Harry to make the biggest mistake of his life.

You gotta be fucking kidding me. Just... you'll see.

HAW HAW, I GET IT! A FAIRY (QUEER)!

*poke poke* "Stand back, tubby. No, they're not going to let you eat him when they're done."

"Live, Live!" "Kill, Kill!!" "Faster, Pussycat!"

I think "Death to the Monster" could be kind of a cool band name.

Huh, I didn't know they let overgrown sewer rats be newscasters. Yeesh. And how does she know the governor isn't going to call in at the last minute?

"Hi, folks, just wanted to stop you right there and warn you there's a Chick Tract up ahead. You might want to find an alternative route. And no, this isn't a glove — I, uh... got drunk once and tried to juggle a campfire."

Aaaagh, zombie! Hurry, find someone to fight it.

Hey, don't I recognize that nose somewhere? Man, Joe Camel's fallen on some rough times if this is all he can get for work. Wait a second... why isn't he visible from behind in the second panel?

The rat-woman reporter's face is even worse up close. It's like she fell asleep onto a welding torch or something. My, what an assortment of hideous people.

"So why do they call him Incredibly-Generic-Nickname-for-a-Killer?"

Like the site? Have disposable income? Please send money - the gift everyone needs!

Those who have helped keep this site going through direct financial contribution:

- Cindy Smith
- Eric Watt
- Randy Kopycinski
- Kevin Turner

Thank you very much to all who have donated.

|Links|

|                                      |
|--------------------------------------|
| Words                         |
| Desperance                           |
| FireDogLake                          |
| Infidel753                           |
| Nicest Girl and Destroyer of Planets |
| Wet Machine                          |
| Crooks & Liars                       |
| GeekDroppings                        |
| Curmudgette                          |
| RudePundit                           |
| Suspect Device                       |
| Plato's Playground                   |
| Comics Curmudgeon                    |
| The Lovable Atomic Mongrel           |
| Jon Swift                            |
| Deeply Blasphemous                   |
| MediainTrouble                       |
| Les Said, the Better                 |
| Hullabaloo                           |
| Red Hair, Black Leather              |
| Polyester Bride                      |

|                            |
|----------------------------|
| Thosw                      |
| LaughingWild               |
| AnneJumps                  |
| Kitty Sneezes              |
| Rook's Rant                |
| Slacktivist                |
| Rob's Blog                 |
| Jimpharo                   |
| Frippy                     |
| Joey's Blog                |
| Shakesville                |
| Pharyngula                 |
| Pandagon                   |
| Spinnwebe                  |
| Sadly, No!                 |
| Comics                     |
| Achewood                   |
| SlowWave                   |
| Jerkcity                   |
| Leisuretown                |
| Wondermark                 |
| The Perry Bible Fellowship |
| MNFUIU/GYWO                |
| Other                      |
| RiffTrax                   |
| Meat Beetles               |
| TMBO                       |
| Wishlist                   |
| Link to me.                |

Are you already linking to me? Let me know and I'll link back.

Please report any broken or incorrect links.

Archives

- June 2007
- May 2007
- April 2007
- March 2007
- February 2007
- January 2007
- November 2006
- October 2006
- September 2006
- August 2006
- July 2006
- June 2006
- May 2006
- April 2006
- March 2006
- February 2006
- January 2006
- December 2005
- November 2005
- October 2005
- September 2005
- August 2005
- July 2005
- June 2005
- May 2005
- April 2005
- March 2005
- February 2005
- January 2005
- December 2004
- November 2004
- October 2004
- September 2004
- December 2003
- November 2003
- September 2003
- August 2003
- November 2002
- September 2002
- May 2002
- April 2002
- March 2002

June 2007

|    |     |    |    |    |    |    |
|----|-----|----|----|----|----|----|
| M  | T   | W  | T  | F  | S  | S  |
|    |     | 1  | 2  | 3  |    |    |
| 4  | 5   | 6  | 7  | 8  | 9  | 10 |
| 11 | 12  | 13 | 14 | 15 | 16 | 17 |
| 18 | 19  | 20 | 21 | 22 | 23 | 24 |
| 25 | 26  | 27 | 28 | 29 | 30 |    |
| ◀  | May |    |    |    |    |    |

Search

Search

His story began, as most things do, with the Tooth Fairy.

What an incredibly spacious bathroom. You could train an elephant in that thing.

The kid looks incredibly drowsy in the first panel. "Mommy, look! I was taking all this meth, and, uh... and my tooth fell out."

Here, let's change things up a little: "Oh, my! Let's see, honey. That means the Tooth Jesus is coming tonight!" "Tooth Jesus? Who is he?" "He's a magical man. He doesn't give you any money for putting your teeth under your pillow, but he walks around on water, and gives you everything you ever wanted after you die if you say the magic words." Oh, yeah — that's totally more believable a story.

"Mommy, I know your talking nipples also possess encyclopedic knowledge and all, but could you at least finish your own sentences?"

"I know you'll come Tooth Fairy! *kthunk* I'm even punching myself in the face — *kthunk kthun-crunch* — to knock out the rest of my teeth, to be — *kthun-crunch* — extra sure!"

Starring John Astin as 'Daddy'.

Hah, why such short notice? Apparently they don't get that the most useful element of the whole 'Santa' thing is as a device to manipulate your children into behaving. "If you're not good, Santa won't bring you any presents. And Santa can see everything." How the fuck useful is that if you only tell them a week before Christmas? Oh, good job, guys, you got him to clean his room once.

I like his hand gestures. "Welcome home from work, dad! Here's what you've won!"

Okay, another little variation, here: "God lives in heaven, and he can see everything you do. He knows if you've been a bad little boy or a good little boy. If you've been good, when you die, he'll give you everything you ever wanted."

Oh, hey, there's that really neat dog again.

Meta/RSS

RSS 2.0
Comments RSS 2.0
Valid XHTML

Kid has real dedication if he's willing to wait in line for half an hour while Margaret from Dennis the Menace reads off her scrawled-on-a-roll-of-toilet-paper grocery list of wishes.

"Hey, I know what'll make the holiday season merrier: let's paint lusty, psychotic eyes on all the nutcrackers!"

Oh, come on, like holiday mascots are the ONLY lies parents EVER tell their children.

"Just what I always wanted! Godzilla, a telescope, and a radioactive Superman crucifix!"

Well, of course it'd break his heart to reveal the secret and piss all over his parade right after he opens his presents on Christmas morning. But seriously, what a couple of whiny fuckwits.

If you don't believe how evil this all is, think about this: "Santa" is an anagram for "Satan". And they both wear red! See? EVIL!

"Wow! I farted so hard, it blew my legs off and rocketed me right out of the pew! Incidentally, the Easter Bunny is coming!"

What the fuck kind of a stupid question is this, anyway? Did someone tell him the Easter Bunny is Jesus? Does he think the Bible tells of a gigantic nomadic rabbit born to a human woman that wandered around the Middle East performing miracles? Granted, the whole "Easter Bunny" thing would, I imagine, be rather confusing to Christian children, but seriously, doesn't he think someone would've seen fit to at least give passing mention to the whole "Jesus was a giant rabbit" thing at some point?

Either the church decided to rent the bunny suit with the most distressed, fearful expression, or that's a genuine biped anthropomorphic rabbit. I'm drawn toward the latter, given that it also appears to be sweating.

Oh, no! Run! He's transforming into a Super Saiyan!

Or maybe they other kids have pyrokinesis. I mean, they're speaking without speech bubbles, which I can only assume means they're just projecting their thoughts. After all, in Chick's universe, black magic really works, too, so hell, why not say kids have super mental powers? "Santa gave me this jacket and you set it on fire with your minds! Seriously, what the fuck? I'll Kill you both before you take over the world with your superhuman powers!"

Yeah, nobody's parents ever lie to them. No parent ever exaggerates the actual dangers of a situation in order to keep their kids from doing something with a slight possibility of being unsafe, or creates a convenient fabrication when they feel they need to somehow bend the truth to protect them. "If you watch too much TV, you'll end up needing glasses." "Hide your money in your sock if you ever walk around in a city." "The Stork brings babies." "Step on a crack and you'll break your mother's back." "If you use the microwave, you'll burn yourself." "If you masturbate too much, you'll go blind." "If you get that BB gun, you'll shoot your eye out!" Not to mention all the lies fundamentalist parents spew forth like a mighty volcano of hot, clumpy bullshit, especially when it comes to sex. "Fifty percent of gay teenagers are HIV positive!" "Condoms barely do anything!" "Regardless of circumstances, if you have sex EVEN ONCE, you can get pregnant! Even using any form of birth control!" Are all these kids going to kill the first person who tells them otherwise? "No, seriously, when used properly, condoms are effective about 97% of the time." "Noooo. YAAAAHHH! I'll Kill you! My parents would never lie to me!"

Gee, lady, why the long, hideous face?

"We now go live to the scene of the crime, where reporter Mr. Horse is on the scene. Mr. Horse, what do you think of the tragedy that took place at the school today?" "Hrmmmm... No sir, I don't like it."

They set him on fire! I mean, come on, they were fucking asking for it.

"A terrorist act"? Okay, so the kid just happened to be carrying around some kind of weapon of mass destruction in the event he might ever need to commit an act of terrorism? I thought he just attacked a couple students, killing one of them. I guess we're reclassifying every crime as "terrorism" now, including pummeling someone to death with your bare hands. Though, I suppose, if he actually did have Super Saiyan powers...

You know, I'd say a good half of terrorism is ramping up the fear yourself after the act takes place and making people afraid that similar things might happen in the future. That said, Jack Chick is a great terrorist. Take this very Tract, for instance: Jack's taking a currently popular "scary" term - "terrorism" - and using it to propagate his message. "If you tell your kid there's a Santa Clause and an Easter Bunny, he/she will commit terrorism!" It's not necessary for him to say "terrorism", because it's not fucking terrorism. It's just murder. But it helps ramp up the fear.

Surprise cameo by Martin Landeau, second panel, on the left.

Oh, and fun fact, by the way, everyone: No terrorist act has ever been committed for religious reasons. It's all little kids finding out there's no Santy Clause.

"No! Not for his protection! I disagree with your explanation!"

So, uh, wouldn't he have also killed his classmates, then, if they said his parents were "liars" for telling him there was a Jesus? He was "defending" their reputations — does the accused lie itself really matter? And what if his parents told him about Santa themselves? Would he have killed them?

I know it's an extremely tough competition, but this is probably the most ridiculous Chick Tract to date. (Second only to the discontinued Tract "Wounded Children" — that one's so ridiculous, even Chick discontinued it.) It just fails on so many levels. The message from this isn't so much "telling your children fairy tales about Santa and the Easter Bunny is dangerous" as much as "psychotic, aggressive children will kill people over just about anything". I mean, come on — obviously there are greater underlying issues, here, that would exist regardless of the Tooth Fairy. More than that, though, there's an implicit message in this - which is undoubtedly completely unintentional - to always question authority, and anything other people (including parents and religious figures) tell you. Oops!

"Yeah, you got us — we pretended to be Jesus, too."

Who thinks "Gulp!"? That's like thinking the word "yawn" when you're tired or bored or "blink" when someone says something particularly stupid.

"Well, son, y'know, we have just as much concrete evidence for God and Jesus as we do for the Easter Bunny. I mean, we could tell you there's an enormous, invisible bee the size of a planet sitting in the middle of the sun and it controls every subatomic particle in the universe with its infinite arms of infinite lengths, and then, three weeks later, tell you we were lying, and there's no real way we could demonstrate whether we were telling the truth with either report. So for now, for all applicable purposes, let's just say 'yes', God and Jesus are fairy tales, too, since somewhere down the line, someone could tell you we were lying, and there'd be no way we could prove we weren't, and we'd all end up with another massacre."

Wait, I think I may have figured it out: They had him on methamphetamines for hyperactivity, but they got the dosage wrong, so he'd been overdosing the whole time. This led to amphetamine psychosis, which could also explain his strange gestures, his obsessively cleaning his room, his hyperactivity, and his teeth falling out ("meth mouth"). Of course! I mean, it couldn't just be that Jack Chick is completely fucking insane and incapable of constructing even a single, consistent, believable narrative, right?

So he turned into Liza Minelli? Is that why they call him The Monster? If so, I completely understand.

Apparently Harry is turning into God, here. Why else would he have the Batman Action Lines?

"Last night, you strangled your cell mate! I'm clichéing the cliché at you!"

"Hi, Harry. Hi, Stereotypical-Black-Juvenile-Hall-Inmate. I told you I'd be back!"

Trouble must be afoot — Harry's spider-sense is tingling!

Eight year olds, Dude... eight year olds mess around with Jesus.

"500 eyewitnesses! The Bible even says so! I mean, how convincing is that, huh, guys?"

Jamal will apparently believe any story that any person tells him, I guess. This isn't juvenile hall, it's a prison for retarded kids.

"Admittedly, I don't really have any way to back up this claim, at least, not any more so than I would if I told you the Easter Bunny wasn't just a fairy tale."

Now Lorenzo's becoming a Batman Action, too. What the fuck?

It's such a boring story, he's even falling asleep as he tells it.

So let's see, we've got a scimitar-wielding, growling, hipster Arab, a biker with curly ears and a bad, poorly-placed star tattoo (are five-sided stars evil in themselves?), a Communist Chinaman in full uniform, a child's idea of a witch, an Oriental caricature librarian who advertises that she doesn't like prayer, and... uh... an... archaeologist. ("Grr! Bone!")

The ridiculousness of this panel really just speaks for itself. (Scientifically examining fossils and applying critical thinking in any way is evil!)

He doesn't explicitly say "the Jews did it" here, but you can tell he really wants to. Instead, he uses "the religious crowd". What does that even mean?

Blah blah blah, for God so loved the world, 3:16, John, all that.

"Why, I'd be a fool not to completely buy into some random story that I person I know from prison is telling me without presenting any real, observable evidence that it might in any way be truthful. An absolute fool, I tell you! Sign me up!"

Hey, not even three minutes ago, Jamal had no idea who Jesus even was, and now suddenly he's all Mr. Jesus.

And, yeah, Christians never commit crimes after they find Jesus. NEVER! Because, y'know, religion equals morality!

See? You tell your kids there's an Easter Bunny and a Tooth Fairy, and they'll grow up to be just like Ozzie Bin Laden. (WHAT)

Who are the other two people to the left and right? I take it Jack only knows one person from the F.B.I.'s Most Wanted list. You know, arguably the most famous, and the one most likely to invoke fear in the people who sincerely read these Tracts.

I like how he also just sort of generally "made the '10 Most Wanted List' of the F.B.I." Harry - an undoubtedly simple-minded kid who beats people to death with his fists - doesn't exactly strike me as the type of cunning criminal mastermind capable of evading all law enforcement and pulling off crimes on a grand enough scale to be anything more than some two-bit shithead who gets caught in the oven duct at a Wendy's trying to break in to kill the night window clerk for claiming he ordered the breaded chicken sandwich, not the grilled, thereby implying he was a liar.

P.S. - I very, very much doubt "accepting Jesus" can cure people of lifelong psychopathy and homicidal tendencies. Nobody with any semblance of sanity knocking around in their heads could possibly believe the outcome would've been different had Harry accepted Jesus back in juvenile hall.

Oh, wait a second! Hold on. I see what's going on here: This Tract is stupid. I get it now! That explains everything.

"Jesus still loves you! So much that he'll torture you for the rest of time if you don't choose to accept him this very instant! Hey, that punishment fits the crime, doesn't it? Surely, he is a just and loving God."

Wow, this is one of the rare Chick Tracts where the main character doesn't get "saved" at the end. And you know, I'm a little disappointed that we never really did find out why they call him "The Monster".

"The Easter Bunny is no fairy tale! You will face his painted eggs on the day of Easter!"

---

Okay, I want to know something: Has anything even remotely like this ever fucking happened in the history of mankind? Has any child even seriously injured another child for claiming there was no Santa, let alone wound up one of the F.B.I.'s Most Wanted? Nothing even close? So why did Jack feel the need to create a Tract to apparently attempt to prevent things like this from happening? Gyah, I just... gyah.

This one was particularly hard to mock, simply because it's so ridiculous that it practically mocks itself. Sometimes I wonder if Jack really is some kind of sage of irony, and that getting gullible people to swallow shit this unabashedly ridiculous is all just a big joke to him.

By the way, I mentioned this Tract a little earlier: I've been having a hard time tracking down the 'Wounded Children' Tract online. If anyone has a copy they can scan or mail me, or if anyone saved the page before it was taken down (if it was ever on his site to begin with) and could mail me a zip or tarball of it, it'd be greatly appreciated.

Because everyone else is doing it:

Digg del.icio.us Netvouz DZone ThisNext MisterWong Wists
StumbleUpon Technorati

33 Responses to "Chick Dissection | Fairy Tales"

1. rev. Syung Myung Me Says:
May 13th, 2007 at 4:39 pm

...Which is "Wounded Children" again? I don't have a copy, but I've probably read it. But yes, this one is just daft as all get out. I'd be really interested to know Chick's motives behind this one. I mean, in particular, since I know his general motive is "WITNESSING!!!" and whatnot. But yes. The whole... whoooo nature of this one is just baffling.

2. Jabberwock Says:
May 13th, 2007 at 5:44 pm

It's the one where there's this kid whose father is a total prick (because of demonic influence, of course), and is constantly verbally abusive toward him, and as a result the kid "becomes" gay. He struggles with it and eventually "gives in" (again, because of demonic influence), but is then saved by a "formerly gay" Christian in a gay bar, and they both rush to a friend's house to save this other gay guy from killing himself.

There's a live-action short film of it on the Hot Chicks DVD.

3. Jon Says:
May 13th, 2007 at 5:47 pm

Hey, if anyone has Wounded Children, don't just send it to Jabberwock, post it in the comments section. I wanna read it too!

4. Aisha Says:
May 13th, 2007 at 6:02 pm

I was hoping you'd dissect this one. I vaguely remember finding out about santa clause, my reaction wasn't "I'll fucking kill you."

5. Your Face Says:
May 13th, 2007 at 7:13 pm

So the moral of the story is: Believe what other people well you. Unless it's not true. You know what, just guess and hope you have it right.

Come on. If he wanted to tell people that God is kind and loving, he could have portrayed him as more understanding than that.

6. Mom Says:
May 13th, 2007 at 7:22 pm

What???? Is this lunatic for real? This is all just a joke, right? I mean, if Jack Chick thinks that kids are going to become murderers just because our parents lied to us then we are all potential murderers. Just think of what a nice boy Bin Laden would have been if only his parents didn't lie to him about the Easter Bunny and Santa. If only we could turn back time.... Wait....do Muslims celebrate Easter and Christmas? Geez, I wonder what his parents lied to him about? Wow, is there any lie greater than the Easter Bunny?

7. Breathing Meat Says:
May 13th, 2007 at 9:18 pm

Sometimes I wonder if Jack really is some kind of sage of irony, and that getting gullible people to swallow shit this unabashedly ridiculous is all just a big joke to him.

Nup. Surely he's a sage of marketing. The more he can frighten little old ladies with stories of terrorists and witches and Catholics and homosexuals and the Easter Bunny, the more tracts he can sell. It's difficult to think of a more despicable way of earning a living.

8. Breathing Meat Says:
May 13th, 2007 at 9:25 pm

By the way, have you had any cease-and-desists yet?

9. Randy Says:
May 13th, 2007 at 10:32 pm

That's no radioactive crucifix, it's... "Oh, no! Lower-case 't' has returned! Everybody run!"

Why, after the panel with horse woman, does it show Cousin It from the Adams Family?

Actually, the bearded Arab looks strikingly like Hassan Nasrallah of Hezbollah. Although the way he's wielding the scimitar like a dagger, I think it's to prevent actually stabbing with it.

And the writers go on to say, "But Jesus came to pay for their sins, and everybody else's." Which is interesting, since the message is always, "Jesus only pays for the sins of people who actively accept him." Of course, this has already been covered so much, since it's part of the fundamentalist package of ideas.

10. TheDiva Says:
May 13th, 2007 at 10:50 pm

If I were to guess, I would think ol' Jack is trying to make a statement about the secularization of the two most important holidays on the Christian calendar (one of the fundies' favorite themes every December, when store clerks saying "Happy Holidays" is tantamount to The End of Civilization As We Know It)—but being Jack Chick, goes about it in such a ridiculously hysterical and over-the-top way that it ends up making no sense whatsoever.

Oh, and nice cameo by one of the "CSI" cast members—Eric Szmanda, I think.

11. Rachael Says:
May 13th, 2007 at 11:28 pm

Religious/Christian-related homicides: Bunches.
 Tooth fairy-related homicides: Nada.

Am I wrong here?

Jack Chick continues to amuse. [As do you.]

12. Jabberwock Says:
May 13th, 2007 at 11:54 pm

Breathing Meat: Not yet. Nobody with any ties to Chick has ever contacted me about it. Of course, the copyrights are embedded in the Tracts, I don't alter them at all, I'm not making any money from displaying them, and what I'm doing falls very clearly into "parody and fair use", so my response will be roughly along the lines of "fuck yourself" if they ever try it. And based on many precedents set by similar cases, I think the legal system would side with me.

Randy: Hee! I nearly forgot about Lower-Case 't'.

TheDiva: Yeah, possibly, but he totally fails at delivering a message anywhere close to that.

Rachael: Hah, you never know - it's possible someone totally bugshit may have killed someone and blamed it on the Tooth Fairy. (Also: The fictional killer in the movie "Red Dragon" is sometimes referred to as the "Tooth Fairy".) But I think you're right.

13. BtI Says:
May 14th, 2007 at 10:34 am

That's outstandingly ridiculous.

The introduction to this tract made me think it was going to be about computer games. That, combined with the Easter Bunny, gave me an idea: does Jack Chick know about furries?

Informing him could potentially either cause his revolting little husk of a heart to spontaneously combust much like a supernova or make him create the most unhinged Chick tract ever.

14. Linkage Says:
May 14th, 2007 at 11:09 am

Okay, for the record, Santa Clause is NOT a fairy tale. There was a real person named St. Nicholas. I would consider the modern-day story of Santa Clause to be more of a legend, like the legend of King Arthur.

I often wonder this: would fundamentalist Christians react so harshly if there was a St. Nicholas Day instead of Santa Clause on Christmas?

15. Brian Says:

May 14th, 2007 at 12:13 pm

Actually St. Nicholas was a Catholic so naturally Fundamentalists like Chick hate him and deny his existence.

And there already is a St. Nicholas day (December 6) but only Catholics recognize it.

16. Chelonianmobile Says:

May 14th, 2007 at 12:48 pm

Bt1: good point. Anyone want to set up a fake Fundie's email account and tell Chick about furies?

Or maybe tell him about this blog?

17. Ryan Says:

May 14th, 2007 at 8:40 pm

No, Jesus is not a giant bunny. The grim reaper is, but Jesus isn't. (I've been reading too many webcomics...)

Chelonianmobile: Funny you should mention that; I've been considering doing EXACTLY that! So I'll accept that challenge.

Jabberwock: I've got every last panel of Wounded Children saved to my computer. I'll be e-mailing them to you shortly. 🐰;)

18. Randy Says:

May 14th, 2007 at 9:54 pm

"Wounded Children"? That's odd; I can't see Chick writing a tract to raise awareness about civilian war casualties.

19. Chelonianmobile Says:

May 15th, 2007 at 3:36 am

Ryan; Jack for the win. I just wish the bunny was hanging out with a noseless foxcub in that panel.

20. Kiro Says:

May 15th, 2007 at 8:16 am

A friend got me onto this website after I got seriously freaked out and upset by a Chick Tract (I forget the name, it had a happily married gay couple consorting with demons and a religious message from a "plucky" little girl, though). Can I just say, you're doing a great job?

This comic is just plain silly. Do you think Mr. Chick is running out of real threats to complain about, and is reduced to making them up? What will he complain about next? Giving your child a teddy bear makes them believe they have an animal spirit guide? Holding tea parties implies that tea is more holy than wine?

Anyhow, I've flicked through the rest of the tracts on his site and there are a couple of patently ridiculous ones you might want to go after.

This one: http://www.chick.com/reading/tracts/1000/1000\_01.asp can't possibly be true, but I don't know enough about the facts in it to see what's wrong. A debunking would be nice.

And this one http://www.chick.com/reading/tracts/0064/0064\_01.asp seems to take the angle that witchcraft is actually real and can have effects on the real world. Surely nothing should have that kind of power but God, according to these tract-writers?

21. Kat Says:

May 15th, 2007 at 1:20 pm

<http://members.tripod.com/monsterwax/fang.html>

Here is list of all the Tracts that have our lovable little saw-bat-doggy in them.

22. Chelonianmobile Says:

May 15th, 2007 at 2:02 pm

Oh, I thought this might interest people here;

<http://news.bbc.co.uk/1/hi/world/americas/6659457.stm>

Jerry Falwell has recently died.

Were I less good-hearted, I might claim this as proof of a benevolent supreme being. ^_~ No, seriously, even if he was an asshole I am sorry for the loss of the people who liked him (there must BE some, right?)

23. Jabberwock Says:

May 15th, 2007 at 3:01 pm

Kat: Hee! THAT's why it looked so familiar. (Though, I'm still pretty sure there's something similar in a video game or something.)

Chelonianmobile: Hehe, heard about that earlier. I'll have a post up about it in a little bit.

24. nimue Says:
May 15th, 2007 at 4:00 pm

hey, i'm working on tracking down a copy of wounded children for you. (i was bored, okay? and I would love to see your dissection of it) I think i've found someone who has it... I don't know if it's a hard copy or if they have it scanned... How would i (or the person who has it) get it to you if i can get a hold of it?

25. Rarend Says:
May 17th, 2007 at 12:35 pm

Thanks Jabberwock, I'd have hated it if this tract went unpunished

26. slut Says:
May 17th, 2007 at 3:56 pm

There's a lot of chick tracts for auction on ebay including the wounded children one.
http://cgi.ebay.com/47-Jack-T-Chick-Publications-Comic-Book-Tracts\_W0QQitemZ330119753272QQihZ014QQcategoryZ12592QQssPageNar

ndZViewItem

27. Nick Says:
May 18th, 2007 at 3:38 am

Kiro, about that Chick tract that freaked you out - was it this one?
<http://www.enterthejabberwock.com/?p=147>

28. Sean Murphy Says:
May 18th, 2007 at 7:47 am

Is it just me, or is the reporter giving the "Breaking News" about a "terrorist" act in Main Street Elementary actually ... Barbara Streisand? Maybe the real Barbara Streisand can sue Jack Chick for unauthorized use of her likeness? That would make for some fun news...

29. Linkage Says:
May 18th, 2007 at 4:18 pm

You can quote John 3:16 all you want. Austin 3:16 says "I just kicked your ass!"

Had to do it.

30. The Meat Beetles Says:
May 19th, 2007 at 12:47 am

The Meat Beetles absolutely love your Chick dissections. We put a link to your site at our site. Keep up the good work!

31. El Anansi Says:
May 20th, 2007 at 1:15 pm

Absolutely brilliant, as always. It's amazing, I've been following these for a couple years, and I swear he's actually slipping deeper and deeper into his frenzied, stifling insanity. My personal favorite remains "The Tycoon", in which our dear hermit savant attempts to confront Buddhism, which naturally results in abject hilarity.

32. Professor Woland Says:
May 27th, 2007 at 6:08 am

Question: Now where have we seen a writer with a fetish for giant anthropomorphic furry mammals before?

Answer: Click Gonterman to find out.

33. Dinosauria Says:
June 25th, 2007 at 7:54 pm

A comment on your dissection of the heathen-filled panel: The gentleman holding the bone is probably a paleontologist, not an archaeologist, as paleontologists focus their studies on fossil life and evolution.

Leave a Reply

Name

Mail (will not be published)

Website

Submit Comment

---

Powered by WordPress

---

Previous   Archive

---

Site best viewed with Firefox at 1024x768 with medium text size. Not intended for persons under 18 years of age, but if you won't tell, we won't tell.

---

Unpaid Obligatory Advertisements:

(Please see "Links", to the left, under the nav.)

---

All content Copyright 2007 J Crowley unless otherwise noted, in which case said content under Copyright of its respective owner(s).

---

The views expressed by individual writers are not necessarily those of the site, nor are the views of the site necessarily those of the individual writers. Nor are the views of the individual writers necessarily those of the other writers.